THE BOOK PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT RECOMMENDS

Aunt Jane of Kentucky

By ELIZA CALVERT HALL

President Theodore Roosevelt says:

"Have you read that charming little book written by one of your clever Kentucky women—'Aunt Jane of Kentucky'—by Eliza Calvert Hall? It is very wholesome and attractive. Be sure that you read it."

MARGARET E. SANGSTER says:

"A prose idyl. Nothing more charming than this delightful book has appeared in recent fiction. It is no small pleasure to meet a book so clean, wholesome, inspiring and entertaining."

The New York Times says:

"Where so many have made caricatures of oldtime country folk, Eliza Calvert Hall has caught at once the real charm, the real spirit, the real people, and the real joy of living which was theirs."

Illustrated by Beulah Strong. Cloth, $1.50

THE SUCCESSOR

A Novel

By RICHARD PRYCE

Just Issued by DUFFIELD & COMPANY

"An exceedingly interesting story; his characters are clearly and incisively drawn, and his dialogue is both witty and pointed. And to a novel possessing such qualities it would be strange indeed were the public to refuse the hearty welcome which it thoroughly deserves."—Daily Telegraph.

"It is the risk of exposure which keeps you on tenterhooks throughout, and adds a zest to the clever interest of the story. Gundred is a charming girl."—Pall Mall Gazette.

"Not many living novelists have so much of the true spirit of comedy as Mr. Richard Pryce. His latest tale, 'The Successor,' has a double portion of that spirit. The characters are well imagined and deftly individual."—Morning Post.

Ready September 14th

The new novel called "Three Weeks," by Elinor Glyn, author of "The Visits of Elizabeth."

THREE WEEKS

By ELINOR GLYN

This story of a royal love episode is the sensation of the day in England.

"Mrs. Glyn has never written before with anything like such poetic sentiment or such admirable descriptive power. Readers who can tolerate a defiance of the conventions will find 'Three Weeks' a very dainty romance," says The Sunday Times (London).

The New Romance of the West by RANDALL PARRISH

BETH NORVELL

¶If this book does not exceed in sales the delightful fiction previously written by Mr. Parrish, it will not be because of its lack of brilliancy and gripping interest which holds its readers from word to word—title to finish.

¶ The heroine is a talented young actress who is "discovered" by a daring young Mining Engineer. They act out their romance in the Colorado mining regions, where impulses are strong and action the order of the day. The story abounds with exciting complications and rigid tests of character.

¶ That sympathetic illustrator, Mr. N. C. Wyeth, has contributed a frontispiece in color for the work. The cover design will attract comment for its originality and artistic teatment. Striking posters and other advertising matter furnished dealers upon application. $1.50

NOTES IN SEASON.

FREDERICK A. STOKES CO. have now ready five comic juveniles for 1907, each consisting of new pictures now published in book form for the first time, under the separate titles: "Outcault's Buster Brown and Company," by R. F. Outcault; "Foxy Grandpa's Triumphs," by "Bunny"; "The Cruise of the Katzenjammer Kids," by R. Dirks; "Maud the Matchless" and "Happy Hooligan Home Again," the latter two by F. Opper.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & CO. will publish in early September "Camping and Tramping With Roosevelt," by John Burroughs, and the autobiographical reminiscences of General Morris Schaff, dealing chiefly with "The Spirit of Old West Point," which have proved such eagerly expected reading in the pages of the Atlantic Monthly. Gen. Schaff has revised and enlarged these papers, and his book is a great eulogy on West Point, the nation's most beneficent institution.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT CO. have just ready "The Story of a Football Season," by George H. Brooke, the coach at Swarthmore College; "Beau Brocade," by Baroness Orczy, a romantic tale of a chivalrous highwayman; and "When Kings Go Forth to Battle," by William Wallace Whitelock, with scenes laid chiefly in a little German principality, where a change of rulers takes place mainly through the instrumentality of an American man and girl, who have just met by chance on this foreign soil.

FUNK & WAGNALLS COMPANY will publish early in September a new edition of Mabel Wagnalls' "Stars of the Opera," containing a large amount of new matter, including interviews with Madame Melba and Geraldine Farrar, and a new analysis of "Madame Butterfly;" "The Semi-Insane and the Semi-Responsible," by Dr. Smith Ely Jelliffe, who was one of the experts for the defense in the Thaw trial; "Smiling Round the World," a new book by Marshall P. Wilder; and "Sex Equality: a Solution of the Woman Problem," by Dr. Densmore, based on teachings of Darwin and Spencer.

GEORGE W. JACOBS & CO. have ready five juveniles for the approaching holiday season. "Us Fellers," with text by Izola L. Forrester and pictures by B. Cory Kilvert, tells of a band of natural, frisky youngsters; "Jack, the Giant Killer, Jr.," by Dwight Burroughs, with colored illustrations, outdoes his father of ancient fame by killing his victims with electricity, the automobile, the airship and other modern agencies; "The Four Corners in California," by Amy E. Blanchard, the new volume in the Corner Series; "Joan of Juniper Hill," by Emilia Elliott; and "Pixey O'Shaughnessy," by Jessie de Horne Vaizey, a sprightly story of a young Irish girl, who arrives in a dignified English boarding-school and creates no end of excitement and fun.

MCCLURE, PHILLIPS & CO. will publish on the 14th of next month "Arizona Nights," by Stewart Edward White. These yarns, in which Mr. White is seen at his best as a story teller, have been appearing for the most part in McClure's Magazine. Two novels which will also be brought out in book form on September 14 are "The Car of Destiny," by C. N. and A. M. Williamson, the scene of which is laid in Spain at the time of the recent coronation, and that is said by English critics to surpass in interest and literary power anything that has yet issued from the pens of these authors; and "The Suburban Whirl," by Mary Stewart Cutting, which is described as a love story of married life, set amid the scenes of the New Jersey suburbs.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

☞ The prices of net books published under the rules of the American Publishers' Association are preceded in this list by a double asterisk , and the word net follows the price. The prices of fiction (not net) published under the rules are preceded by a dagger †. The prices of net books not covered by the rules, whether published by members of the American Publishers' Association or not, are preceded by a single asterisk, and the word net follows the price. ☜

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); Q. (4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 25 cm.); D. (12mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); Tt. (32mo: 12½ cm.); Fe. 48mo: 10 cm.). Sq., obl., nar., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights.

Abrahams, Israel. A short history of Jewish literature from the fall of the Temple (70 C.E.) to the era of emancipation (1786 C.E.). N. Y., Scribner, [imported,] 1906, [1907.] 16+176 p. D. cl., *$1 net.

Author is reader in Rabbinic literature in the University of Cambridge. Opens with the fall of Jerusalem in the year 70 of the Christian era, and ends with the death of Moses Mendelssohn in 1786. The period covered extends over more than seventeen centuries. At the end of each chapter there is appended a bibliography.

Adventures of Uncle Sam's soldiers; by Gen. C: King, J: Habberton, Capt. C: A. Curtis, Lieut. C: D. Rhodes and others. N. Y., Harper, 1907. c. 11+243 p. il. D. (Harper's young people ser.) cl., 60 c.

These stories of brave deeds in army life show the kind of men who guarded our West in the days of hostile Indians. While the tales are usually fiction, yet the fiction is usually founded upon some incident of actual occurrence. They are written by army officers who have witnessed scenes and events such as they describe.

Bartholomew, J: G:, ed. Atlas of the world's commerce: a new series of maps; with descriptive text and diagrams showing products, imports, exports, commercial conditions and economic statistics of the countries of the world; compiled from the latest official returns at the Edinburgh Geographical Institute. [N. Y., Scribner, [imported,] 1907.] 7+56+176+42 p. F. cl., *$6 net; mor., *$7 net.

Belcher, J: Essentials in architecture: an analysis of the principles and qualities to be looked for in buildings. N. Y., Scribner, [imported,] 1907. 17+171 p. il. pls. O. cl., *$2 net.

Author is fellow and past president of the Royal Institute of British Architects. His subject, illustrated by many beautiful examples, is considered and explained under the following headings: Principles, Qualities, Factors, and Materials.

Bob O'Link, (pseud.) Matrimony, before and after: a descriptive monologue. N. Y., Dick & Fitzgerald, 1907. c. 8 p. D. pap., 25 c.

Bonehill, Captain Ralph, (pseud.) Guns and snowshoes; or, the winter outing of the young hunters. N. Y., Cupples & Leon Co., [1907.] c. 6+246 p. il. D. (Boy hunters ser.) cl., 60 c.

Carries forward the adventures of the "Four boy hunters," who go in the winter time to almost the same locality where they had a summer camp. The sport the boys had in the snow and on the ice, and the new mystery presented, are both good reading.

Byrne, Austin T: A treatise on highway construction; designed as a text-book and work of reference for all who may be engaged in the location, construction, or maintenance of roads, streets, and pavements. 5th rev. and enl. ed. N. Y., John Wiley & Sons, 1907. c. 43+1024 p. il. tables, diagrs., 8°, cl., $5.

Calvert, Albert F: Seville: an historical and descriptive account of "The pearl of Andalusia"; with 300 il. N. Y., John Lane Co., (The Bodley Head,) 1907. 21+139+300 p. D. (Spanish ser.) cl., *$1.25 net.

One hundred and thirty-nine pages of descriptive text and three hundred reproductions of photographs representing views, buildings, pictures, etc., to be found in the beautiful city of Seville make up the book. The text is divided into chapters on: Seville; Moorish Seville; Seville under the Castilian kings; The Alcazar; The Cathedral; Other buildings of the 15th and 16th centuries, and of the 17th and 18th; The painters of Seville; The old Roman City.

Chamberlin, Georgia Louise, and Kern, Mary Root. Child religion in song and story: a manual for use in the Sunday schools or in the home. Chic., University of Chicago Press, 1907. c. 258 p. O. (Constructive Bible studies, Elementary ser.) cl., $1; Note book. 40 p. pap., 40 c.

Present volume is one of a series of three intended for the guidance of teachers in the first, second and third grades of the elementary Sunday-school—that is, for teachers of children from six to nine years of age. Gives combined services and lessons, the aim being to introduce through informal conversation the religious theme for the day. Lessons are arranged for 39 Sundays, beginning in October and ending with July, and are divided into groups, each group containing the development of a general religious theme. The accompanying notebook contains blank pages for the text and songs to be filled in after each lesson, and there are ten or more loose half-tone reproductions to be pasted in as illustrative material.

Chapman, Allen. Mail order Frank; or, a smart boy and his chances. N. Y., Cupples & Leon Co., [1907.] c. 7+247 p. il. D. (Boys of business ser.) cl., 60 c.

The volumes that preceded this in the series were: "The young express agent" and "Two boy publishers." The present story covers a new field in juvenile books—that of the mail-order business. How Frank started in a small way and gradually worked his way up to a business figure of considerable importance is well told.

Coutts, Francis Burdett T: Money-. The romance of King Arthur. N. Y., John Lane Co., (The Bodley Head,) 1907. 15+217 p. D. cl., *$1.50 net.

A retelling of the Arthurian legend, with some slight variations from the accepted version. The story is evolved through the poem of "Uther Pendragon," showing the birth of Arthur; the play of "Merlin," the drama of "Launcelot du Lake," and a final poem, "The death of Launcelot."

Cran, Mrs. G: Herbert Beerbohm Tree; with 23 full-page il. N. Y., John Lane Co., (The Bodley Head,) 1907. 8+110 p. pors. D. (Stars of the stage; ed. by J. T. Grein.) cl., *$1 net.

The early life and long theatrical career of one of England's greatest actors is the subject of an unusually attractively written memoir. The narrative is rich in amusing anecdotes and witticisms, and embraces critical studies of Mr. Tree's chief parts and of his most important ventures as actor-manager. He is still the owner and manager of His Majesty's Theatre, London, and is in the very prime of his career. The many full-page portraits of Mr. Tree in costume are notably good.

Crane, Eleanor Maud. A little savage: a military comedy in three acts. N. Y., Dick & Fitzgerald, 1907. c. 50 p. D. pap., 25 c.

Dalrymple, C. Leona. Tangles: a farce in one act. N. Y., Dick & Fitzgerald, 1907. c. 18 p. D. pap., 15 c.

Delehaye, Father H. The legends of the saints: an introduction to hagiography; from the French, tr. by Mrs. V. M. Crawford. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1907. 15+241 p. D. (Westminster lib.: a series of manuals for Catholic priests and students; ed. by B. Ward and H. Thurston.) cl., *$1.20 net.

In the opening chapter the author defines what precisely is to be understood by a hagiographic document. This is followed by the development of the legends; The work of the hagiographer; The classification of hagiographic texts; The "dossier" of a saint: Pagan survivals and reminiscences; Concerning certain hagiographic heresies. To indicate briefly the spirit in which hagiographic texts should be studied and to lay down the rules for discriminating between the materials that the historian can use and those that he should hand over as their natural property to artists and poets is the aim of this volume.

Devas, C: Stanton. Political economy. 3d ed. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1907. 22+672+24 p. D. (Stonyhurst philosophical ser.) cl., $2.

Author was for nine years examiner in political economy at the Royal University of Ireland. This edition has been carefully revised, later figures substituted where possible for earlier, and a brief appendix added, with some explanations and references for the use of students.

Dominican Republic. Translation of commercial laws in force in Santo Domingo; comp. from the Official Gazette [by R. J. Beale.] Wash., D. C., W. F. Roberts Co., Inc., 1906, [1907.] 400 p. 8°. (Not for sale.)

Follwell, Percy S. The book of the chrysanthemum. N. Y., John Lane Co., (The Bodley Head,) 1907. 7+97 p. il. pls. D. (Handbooks of practical gardening; ed. by Harry Roberts.) cl., *$1 net.

Contents: The chrysanthemum, its history and progress; Culture; Selecting the buds; Housing and wintering of plants; Insect pests and diseases; Stimulants; Hybridising and raising of new varieties; Raising new kinds from sprouts; Preparing blooms for exhibition; Retarding blooms; Judging; The grouping of plants; Bush and trained specimen plants; Chrysanthemums for market; Summer or early flowering chrysanthemums; Fifty Japanese exhibition varieties; Incurved varieties suitable for exhibition; Reflexed varieties; List of decorative varieties; List of single flowering chrysanthemums; Large anemone flowering; Pompons; Novel varieties; Old favorites; Chrysanthemums in rooms. Author is a professional gardener.

Fournier d'Albe, E. E. Two new worlds: 1, the infra world; 2, the supra world. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1907. 9+159 p. front. D. cl., *$1 net.

By the author of "The electron theory." This work, the author says, is "an attempt to penetrate the mystery of space and time with the help of the most modern resources of scientific research. . . . The main thesis is that a universe constructed on a pattern not widely different from ours is encountered on a definite and measurable scale of smallness, and another on a correspondingly larger scale."

Gamble, W. Straight talks on business. Phil., George W. Jacobs & Co., [1907.] c. 230 p. D. cl., $1 net.

Sir Claude Wyverne was a simple and rather heavy young Englishman, who had married a very frivolous wife and who adored her. He granted her every wish, and when she decided that they should go from Paris to Algiers he obediently started. While he hunted Barbary sheep Lady Wyverne became involved in a flirtation with a handsome Arab army officer, which has a most unexpected and tragical ending. The author of "The garden of Allah" and "The call of the wild" again sets forth with much power the mystery and fascination of the desert.

The 16th century when France was divided into two hostile parties—the Catholics and the Huguenots—is the time of this story for young people. The brave hero, little past boyhood, carries at great peril an important package to the great Huguenot leader, the Admiral de Coligny, and afterwards follows him through a dashing campaign. Many historical events are described, such as the battle of Jarnac, the murder of the Prince de Condé, the wedding of Henry of Navarre, and the massacre of the Huguenots on the day of St. Bartholomew, when Coligny was brutally murdered.

A story of New York City. To save his friend's name from disgrace and to continue the effectiveness of a great mission work he was doing when stricken with death, David Aldrich lets himself be supposed a robber of trust funds and serves his time in prison. When he reappears it is almost impossible for him to get food as an honest man. The story is told to bring to light the terrible trials a man faces who desires to reform but has his "prison record" to meet him at every step.

While still in her honeymoon Mrs. Majendie discovers that there is in her husband's past a not very creditable story that he had believed she had known and which had come to an end long before their marriage. She is a good, religious woman, thoroughly imbued with a belief in her own perfection. She finds her husband's explanations unpardonable, receiving them coldly and gradually withdrawing herself from his life, until he is only remembered in her prayers. Even their little girl is gradually limited in her intercourse with him. Majendie patiently endures the hostile attitude of his wife and the oppressive atmosphere of his home for some years and then seeks consolation elsewhere. How the story ends is left to the reader to discover. As a serial in the Atlantic Monthly "The helpmate" has excited considerable discussion. By the author of "The divine fire."

The story is chiefly about a little boy of eight years, named "Jerry" for short, whose real name is Fitzgerald Ramsey. His mother has just returned from India, where she has been widowed a short time previously to the opening of the story. She is a cold hearted, frivolous woman, who cares little for Jerry because he is slightly lame. She is cruel enough to let him feel this, and as he is a sensitive, precocious little fellow his heart is almost broken. Later she marries Colonel Digby, who becomes intensely fond of "Jerry," and is the means of awakening in his wife a real motherly love for the boy, who has always idealized and idolized her.

A biography of the celebrated English painter George Morland, born in London on the 26th of June, 1763, and died on the 29th of Oct., 1804, in his 42d year. Brief as his career was he left a remarkable number of examples of his genius and versatility. His works are a record of the manners and habits of the people of his day. His present biographer thinks an erroneous impression exists in regard to the subjects of Morland's works, which he aims to correct by giving examples of the artist's different styles and moods. BUSINESS NOTES.

BOSTON, MASS.—G. A. Jackson, for a number of years with Little, Brown & Co. in their law department, has established himself in business under the title of The Students' Co-operative Law-Book Exchange, at 24 Bromfield St. He will deal in both new and second-hand law books and would be pleased to receive both publishers' and second-hand dealers' catalogues.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—The H. H. Otis Book Co. has gone into involuntary bankruptcy.

CHICAGO, ILL.—The Fiduciary Press, 907 Tacoma Building, Chicago, is a new publishing concern just incorporated under the laws of Illinois for $2500, with the following gentlemen as officers: E. I. Rosenfeld, President; Edward E. Beals, Vice-President and Treasurer; I. H. Gallyou, Secretary and Manager. The Fiduciary Press is incorporated to do a wholesale and retail mail-order book business, and will become publishers' representatives for high grade publications. The firm will also publish on its own account.

NEW HAVEN, CONN.—W. H. Parker, formerly with E. P. Dutton & Co., who has lived for some years in retirement in Maine, has again entered the book business. He has established himself at 1086 Chapel Street, and will devote himself to the second-hand trade. He requests publishers and booksellers to send him their catalogues as soon as possible.

NEW ORLEANS, LA.—On September 15 The Antlers Bookshop will remove to larger quarters, 322 Royal St., diagonally opposite to where they have been for three years. Mr. Goodman, late buyer for Barkalow Bros., Omaha, Neb., who is in charge, reports that New Orleans people are buying more standard literature and less fiction each year.

NEW YORK CITY.—Charles H. Doscher has severed his connection with B. W. Dodge & Co., having sold his interest to William Rickey. Without change of name B. W. Dodge & Co., 24 East Twenty-first Street, has been incorporated under the laws of the State of New York. Mr. Dodge retains his interest and has associated with him Theodore Dreiser, editor in chief of the Delineator, and William Rickey as the other stockholders and officers of the corporation.

CATALOGUING INCUNABULA.*

BESIDES the books, pamphlets and maps of more recent dates, the bookseller may be called upon to include in his catalogues books of early dates, manuscripts and autographs. Early printed books, included in the term incunabula, derived from the Latin cunabula, the cradle, therefore generally designated by the German bookseller as "wiegendrucke," and, occasionally, by the English bookseller as "cradle books," are the books printed in the second half of the fifteenth century when the art of printing was still in its infancy—in the cradle. The Greek word palæotype, "an old impression," is also, but rarely, used by pedantic dealers in describing early printed books.

It is still a question even with bibliographers of note where to draw the line for incunabula. While the term is generally accepted as applying only to books printed within the fifteenth century, that is, before the year 1500, a number of scholars would extend the period to 1520, because, though the beginning of the sixteenth century was not remarkable for great progress in the art of printing, they hold that the inauguration of the Reformation distinctly marked the transition period of the whole of Europe from the Middle Ages to the New Era, during which learning was spread with such marvellous rapidity through the printed page. Friedrich Kapp, in his "Geschichte des deutschen Buchhandels," suggests that the period before 1520 might fitly be termed the age of the folio, (das Foliantenzeitalter,) because up to that period books were rarely brought out in any other form. Nor is the difference one of exterior only. The literature in folio form was for the scholar and had but little part in the education of the common man; indeed, the true importance of the booktrade as a dominating factor in the education of the people does not begin until the appearance of that numerous and cheap pamphlet literature which in its effect accomplished a complete revolution in the thought of the unlettered people. While these propositions of Kapp and other bibliographers may have much in their favor, librarians, antiquarians and dealers in second-hand books are unanimous in limiting the term of incunabula to the books that were printed from the invention of printing by movable types by Gutenberg, Koster, or whoever the inventive genius may in time be determined to be, until the year 1500, following in this the example of L. Hain, who, in his "Repertorium bibliographicum," describes only the books of that period.

A prominent antiquary once said that "to prepare a satisfactory catalogue of incunabula not only required a considerable knowledge of the subject itself, but also an intimate and complete knowledge of the history and the practical details of the art of printing, papermaking, engraving and the other arts that were laid under contribution in the making of books in the fifteenth century, the basis of which necessarily involves years of preparation and frequent opportunities of becoming acquainted with the books themselves." We readily subscribe to this opinion and cite it here chiefly as a reason for not covering the subject as fully as it seems to deserve. Whoever desires to devote himself to this specialty must go to the sources of information, and we will therefore in this series of articles give only such rudimentary directions for cataloguing early books as may serve as a guide to the beginner, or to those booksellers who occasionally meet with books printed before the year 1500.

The opportunities for picking up early printed books, we might say here, are not so rare as is assumed even by dealers in old books. The rate of production in the book world between 1460 and 1500 was truly amazing, and by 1501 it is reasonably estimated that well-nigh thirty thousand separate works were in existence. In editions of 300 copies of each work, a conservative estimate, there must have been in circulation in the early part of the sixteenth century at least nine million separate printed books. That many of these have been irrevocably lost is undoubtedly true. That many more than is supposed have survived is proven by the recent successes of Voynich, Olschki and others in unearthing not only books printed before 1501, but among them incunabula of lasting worth and value.

*Continuation of "The Profession of Bookselling." Full credit for authorities quoted will be given on the conclusion of the article.

COMMUNICATIONS.

"BEWARE OF TRICKERY."

JOHN B. ALDEN is sending broadcast to the trade the following communication:

"Until THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY took our $20, and then gave the 'fifth-rib-stab' of 'insinuation' that when we offered to pay 'half the dealer's postage,' we might try to 'steal all his trade,' we had not imagined that more than an occasional unsophisticated book dealer would possibly fear to trust a publisher in so simple a matter—and such book dealer we believed would have the good sense to simply keep his money (not our money, as in P. W. case) in his pocket, and the good taste to keep his slanderous thoughts to himself!

"But it is clearly a case where it is desirable that, 'like Cæsar's wife,' the Publishers Book Bulletin should be 'above suspicion,' so we have decided to reverse the process, and

"We will trust the dealer—let him pay the postage, and on his simple statement that he has done so the Bulletin will 'rebate' half the cost. See particulars as to these terms in circular under head of 'Unique Common-Sense Ideas.'

"PUBLISHERS BOOK BULLETIN,
"47 Fourth Ave., Room 84, New York City."

[We regret that we overlooked printing Mr. Alden's further statement as to his plan. We may add that before Mr. Alden's advertisement was accepted his attention was specifically called to the fact that we hold ourselves free to comment con or pro, and we assumed naturally that his sample issue fairly represented his plan.—ED. P. W.]

MR. ALDEN CALLS ATTENTION TO OUR OVERSIGHT.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

SIR: You have lately been more free, if not more generous, with my name than I anticipated.

I am glad to believe THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is influenced toward its course by a standard of business ethics.

I am glad to know that some of its patrons hold to a different standard, and have wondered at your course in the matter.

As to any "accusation" by me of "bad faith" on your part, that statement I challenge. I have simply printed the bare facts, and leave others to infer.

Why don't you reprint the few lines, and let people judge for themselves? Particularly as they carry an important fact which you have failed to print, offsetting the inference, which even a second time you lead your readers to draw, that if they sent me names of their customers for their specific use I might treacherously appropriate them to my own use, intimating there should be some "assurance" that I would not—indicating a strange standard of "ethics" somewhere!

The specific response I made to the insinuation as to the possibility of such morally, if not legally criminal course of action, was that I would reverse the process, and "trust the Dealer," instead of his trusting me; that he might pay the postage, and on his simple statement that he had done so I would rebate half the cost.

Yours very truly,
JOHN B. ALDEN,

BIBLE HOUSE, N. Y. City.

THE BOOKS OF THE FRANK TOUSEY PUBLISHING COMPANY.

JUSTICE JOHN J. BRADY, of the Supreme Court, Special Term, Part I., vacated Wednesday morning an order which he had granted on Monday directing the Frank Tousey Publishing Company to furnish information concerning the business of the concern to Lawyer George Gordon Hastings. The announcement was made Tuesday night by persons interested in Sinclair Tousey's side of the case that Justice Brady heard further argument Tuesday in the chambers.

George Gordon Hastings has been trying to find out why no dividends are declared by the publishing company, which, it has been admitted, makes large profits. His wife, who was a sister of Frank Tousey, founder of the concern, and of Sinclair Tousey, who has been running the business, inherited the publishing business from her brother Frank and assigned half of it to Sinclair Tousey and half to her husband, George Gordon Hastings.

OBITUARY NOTES.

DR. SENECA D. POWELL, for many years professor in the New York Post Graduate Medical School, died Sunday, August 25, aged sixty, in consequence of experiments before his class with alcohol and carbolic acid three years ago. Dr. Powell was born in Alabama, January 5, 1848. He was the author of several works on toxicology and antiseptics.

DR. OREN ROOT, brother of Elihu Root, Secretary of State, and professor of mathematics and natural science at Hamilton College, Clinton, N. Y., for twenty-seven years, succeeding his father, died Monday, August 26, at his home in Clinton, N. Y., from cirrhosis of the liver. He had been ill for about a year. Dr. Root was born in Syracuse, N. Y., May 18, 1838. He received the degree of D.D. from Rutgers College in 1891, and that of L.H.D. from Union College in 1895. He was the author of a textbook on elementary trigonometry, and was the editor of various works on declamation and oratory.

THE EARL OF DUNMORE, leader of the Christian Scientists in England, died Tuesday, August 27. Charles A. Murray, seventh Earl of Dunmore, was born on March 24, 1841, and succeeded to the title when four years old. His mother was a daughter of the eleventh Earl of Pembroke. He married the third daughter of the Earl of Leicester in 1866. During the years 1874 to 1880 he was Lord-in-Waiting, acted at one time as Lord Lieutenant of Stirlingshire, and was colonel of the Fourth Battalion Queen's Own Cameron Highlanders. He owned 78,800 acres of land. His best-known publications are "Western Tibet" and "Ormisdale."

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

DR. EDWARD R. TAYLOR, recently elected mayor of San Francisco, has several volumes of poems to his literary credit.

RICHARD PRYCE, author of "The Successor," just issued by Duffield & Co., after already going through five editions in England, is noted for his plays as well as his novels, one of which was recently played at Sandringham in honor of King Edward's birthday.

PROFESSOR DAVID P. TODD, of the astronomical department of Amherst College and head of the Lowell expedition to the Andes, in an interview at Lima, Peru, on Tuesday of this week, was quoted as saying that he is preparing a book on his recent important observations of the eclipse of the sun, of the rings of Saturn, and of the canals of Mars.

DR. DUBOIS, a well-known neurologist of Berne, has successfully applied the principles of psychology to the cure of certain diseases. His theory has just been set forth in a small book entitled "The Influence of Mind on Body." For a number of years he has been reporting cases in the Swiss and French scientific reviews. Without entering into the discussion of the relation between psychical and physical processes, he goes directly to the treatment of diseases by means of suggestion and the training of the will.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

The Contemporary Review for August contains a fine essay by Emily Crawford on "Mediæval and Renaissance Portraiture."

IN Everybody's Magazine for September President Roosevelt returns to the attack upon the "nature fakers" in an article with that title, published over a facsimile of his autograph signature. An editorial note, preceding a symposium gathered for the magazine by Edward B. Clark, author of the original article, "Roosevelt and the Nature Fakirs," and containing the opinions of nature authorities on the controversy, explains that the President intended to take no part in the controversy. The information of the projected publication of the symposium, however, led him to allow Everybody's Magazine to publish a note on the subject which he had intended to append to a forthcoming volume of his public papers.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

THE FIDUCIARY PRESS, 907 Tacoma Building, Chicago, a new publishing concern, has just ready "The Law of Financial Success," by Edward E. Beals, the Vice-President and Treasurer of the newly incorporated firm.

THE CENTURY COMPANY will publish September 5 "Brunhilde's Paying Guest," by Caroline Fuller, a book of many romances breathing the spirit of the South. Later in the month they will have ready "The Red Reign," a story of a year's travel in Russia, by Kellogg Durland; and "Gret, the Story of a Pagan," by Beatrice Mantle, with scene in an Oregon lumber camp.

LONGMANS, GREEN & CO. have just brought out "Garibaldi's Defense of the Roman Republic," by George Macaulay Trevelyan, to which considerable new material has been added; and "The White Man's Work in Asia and Africa," by Leonard Alston, M.A., being a discussion of the main difficulties surrounding the color question, has just been brought out in this country by this firm.

E. P. DUTTON & CO. will have ready in September, "The Sea Charm of Venice," by Stopford A. Brooke; "A History of Astronomy," by W. W. Bryant; "Church Furniture," by J. C. Cox and A. Harvey; and "The Care of the Body," by T. Cavanagh, in The New Library of Medicine. They publish this week a new edition of "Mary Stuart," by Florence A. Maccunn, and "European Animals: Their Geological History and Geographical Distribution," by R. F. Scharff.

T. Y. CROWELL & CO. have a new Entre Nous series, gotten up with the pretty daintiness for which the name stands, with special attractions of typography and illustrations. Thus far it includes the following titles by well-known writers: "Allee Same," by Frances Aymar Mathews; "Good Night," by Eleanor Gates; "Schmidt," by Lloyd Osbourne; "In the Deep of the Snow," by Charles G. D. Roberts; "Dawn," by Katharine Holland Brown; and "Araminta and the Automobile," by Charles Battell Loomis.

IT does not often happen that a prophecy is fulfilled so quickly as in the case of "Beatrix of Clare," the new John Reed Scott romance. When this story was published late last June, a great many critics wrote that it would no doubht join the list of the "Six Best Sellers" before the summer was over. This prediction has already come true, for in the current number of The Bookman this spirited novel appears within the "charmed circle" as one of the six best selling books in the country. In this connection J. B. Lippincott Co. announce a new large edition, the fifth, by the way, for publication this week.

FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY have just ready "The Antidote to Christian Science," by Dr. James M. Gray; and announce for early fall publication "God's Message to the Soul," the last work of "Ian Maclaren," (Dr. John Watson;) "The Rhodes Esperanto English Dictionary," a translation of "The Pilgrim's Progress" into Esperanto by Dr. Rhodes; and a new novel by Dr. W. J.

Dawson, entitled "A Prophet in Babylon," the story of a minister who leaves his rich New York congregation and becomes a minister to men's souls regardless of ecclesiastical organization, forming a "League of Social Service" that proves a great help to all its followers.

HARPER & BROTHERS announce for immediate publication "The Weavers," by Gilbert Parker, which has had a most successful serial run in Harper's Magazine, and will appear in the largest first edition ever published by the house; "Discoveries in Every-Day Europe," by Dan C. Seitz, constantly on the lookout for the unexpected amid the well-known sights of ordinary European travel; "The Secret Agent," by Joseph Conrad, a life-like representation of anarchists, in which the hero, tenant of a small, little shop in London, plays against the existing order of things in the most remarkable manner; and "Stories of Symphonic Music," in which Lawrence Gilman explains the meaning of symphonies, overtures and tone-poems from Beethoven to the present day.

JOHN LANE COMPANY (The Bodley Head) have among their newest books, "The Strongest Plume," by Hugh De Selincourt, the story of a girl who gradually learns that she cannot overcome a moment's mistake even by a marriage for life; "On the Wall: Joan and I in the East End," a volume of a dozen short stories of the slums of London, told by Richard Free, a missionary preacher, already known by his work on similar lines, called "Seven Years' Yard"; "Ralph Heathcote," letters of a diplomatist during the time of Napoleon, by the Countess Gunther Groben; and two new volumes in the Spanish Series, so ably edited by Albert F. Calvert: "Spanish Arms and Armour" and "Cordova," a historical and descriptive account of the Royal Armoury at Madrid.

LOTHROP, LEE & SHEPARD CO. will publish eighteen books on September 3. Seven of these were mentioned in last week's issue. Among the remaining ones are: "Love Is the Sum of All," a plantation romance of Virginia, and "Long Knives," a story of Clark's Expedition, both by George Cary Eggleston; "Gayle Langford," the romance of a Tory belle and a Patriot captain, by Harold Mortimer Kramer, a talented Indiana journalist; "Songs of the Average Man," by Sam Walter Foss; "Defending His Flag; or, a Boy in Blue and a Boy in Gray," by Edward Stratemeyer, who also has written "Treasure Seekers of the Andes; or, American Boys in Peru" for the fifth volume of the Pan-American Series; "Five Little Peppers in the Little Brown House," Margaret Sidney's eleventh volume in the famous Pepper Books; "The Boys of Pigeon Camp, Their Luck and Fun," by Martha Jones, the second volume in the Pigeon Camp Series; "A Little Pioneer in Nevada," by Edith M. H. Baylor; "Helen Grant Senior," by Amanda M. Douglas; "Marion's Vacation," by Nina Rhoades; "Ruth Erskine's Son," by "Pansy"; "Randy's Prince," by Amy Brooks; "Dorothy Dainty at Home," by same author; and "Kitty-Cat Tales," by Alice Van Lee Carrick. All these books are illustrated and foretell the coming holidays.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print of five nonpareil lines, exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small undisplayed advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their Communications.

THE JACOBS LIST

A TALK TO BOOKSELLERS

The new Jacobs Announcement, which should receive your consideration before you complete your Autumn stock, contains one of the most complete selections of books for young readers that will be placed before the trade this year. Always "ready-sellers," the new titles, five of which are here listed, are distinctive in their character and make-up.

The Jacobs announcements yet to be made will merit the attention of every bookseller in the country. Some of the volumes embraced in the list are destined to be among the foremost titles of the coming year—one, at least, will make a profound impression on the 1908 book world.

New titles have been added to the American Crisis Biographies ; several notable English books have been imported ; the American rights to a brand new Dickens have been secured—in fact, no other publishing house in America will make announcements surpassing in importance those contained in the Jacobs list.

Hearty co-operation with the bookseller in exploiting these books, the increasing prominence of the Jacobs publications among bookmen, and the timeliness of many of the volumes included in the list, are excellent reasons for giving more than passing consideration to the titles embraced in the Jacobs announcement, sent upon request.

THE JACOBS LIST

THE NEWEST IN JUVENILES

These five books promise to be among the best-selling juveniles of the year. Mechanically, they are admirably adapted for young readers and will strengthen the best made-up list for the Holiday season. All have handsome decorative covers.

US FELLERS (Square 8vo, cloth), $1.00

8 Pictures in Color by B. CORY KILVERT

Text by IZOLA L. FORRESTER

Irresistibly funny as are Mr. Kilvert's drawings, the recital of the adventures of "Us Fellers," a band of frisky youngsters, is well calculated to hold the attention of the young reader.

JACK, THE GIANT KILLER, JR. $1.00

By DWIGHT BURROUGHS. (Square 8vo, cloth.)

Twelve Color Illustrations by HELEN ALDEN KNIPE and ELEANOR PLAISTED ABBOTT

Jack is the son of the Giant Killer of ancient fame. He outdoes his father by killing giants with electricity, the automobile, the air-ship and other modern agencies.

THE FOUR CORNERS IN CALIFORNIA

By AMY E. BLANCHARD $1.50

(12mo. Cloth. Five full page illustrations)

A wholesome book for girls from ten to fourteen, in which the Corner family makes a pilgrimage to California which is beset with many adventures. This is the newest volume in the "Corner Series."

JOAN OF JUNIPER INN $1.50

BY EMILIA ELLIOTT

(12mo. Cloth. Five full page illustrations)

A story for girls of 12 to 16 that is justly entitled to a position in the very front rank of books for girls of this age. It evidences a rare insight into the young nature.

PIXIE O'SHAUGHNESSY $1.50

BY JESSIE DE HORNE VAIZEY

(12mo. Cloth. Six illustrations)

A sprightly story for girls. Pixie is the youngest in a family of Irish children, and her exciting invasion of an English boarding school results in no end of fun and frolic.

India Paper Edition, Red Letter Edition, Regular Editions, Sunday-School Scholars' Bibles

Nearly five years ago we were invited to become associated with those Bible publishers who are governed by an agreement to maintain high prices. We refused to do so. The wisdom of our refusal, and its importance to booksellers, becomes apparent when at this time we are able to say that our Bible business is entirely satisfactory, and Bibles of equal quality to ours cannot be purchased elsewhere at prices less than from 25 to 50 per cent. more than we ask for them. JUST THINK THIS OVER.

Any of our books can be purchased of us direct or of your jobber if more convenient to you.

Don't pay Dictionary Trust or Bible Combination prices for Dictionaries or Bibles. Buy our books and make more money.

The First Book of the Kind on

"Advanced Football"

THE STORY OF A FOOTBALL SEASON

By GEORGE H. BROOKE

Coach, Swarthmore College; Advisory Coach, University of Pennsylvania

A book, explaining in story form the rules of the revised game of football, which should not only be useful to young football players but to the great public that go to see the game. The volume also illustrates and explains a number of important trick plays possible under the new rules.

TWO NEW NOVELS FOR IMMEDIATE ISSUE

Beau Brocade

By BARONESS ORCZY

Author of "The Scarlet Pimpernel," "I Will Repay," etc.

Baroness Orczy returns to the field of romantic fiction in which she first became famous.

This romantic tale of the chivalrous highwayman, Beau Brocade, is full of go, there is real ingenuity in the plot, and the interest is kept up at an intense pitch.

Four illustrations in color by Clarence F. Underwood. 12mo. Cloth, $1.50

When Kings Go Forth to Battle

By WILLIAM WALLACE WHITELOCK

Author of "The Literary Guillotine."

A modern story, in a setting of love and adventure. The action takes place in a small German principality, and involves a thrilling change of rulers, mainly through the instrumentality of an American man and girl, strangers to each other, who become involved in the intrigue in delightfully unconventional fashion.

Three illustrations in color by Frank H. Desch. 12mo. Cloth, $1.50
